How To Walk In A Fallen World!!! - Walk out and/or keep your healing!

We are ALL walking out SANTIFICATION until Christ comes for His bride!

My Process to Healing! I had to learn that Disease comes when we are separated from God, from ourselves and from others. My healing started when I reconciled with God and receiving His love, reconciling with Him as my Father and making peace with Him. I also had to reconcile with myself and with others to complete the healing process as well as forgive my debts and love who I truly am! Plus, continually forgive when others do hurt you again!

The heart is made to love, nothing else. When we forgive, we are loving. Love is forgiveness. Jesus showed us the ultimate love of dying on the cross for us, and did it to bring us forgiveness. The first part of Matthew 22:38-40 was described when I spoke of Love of God. As we read on in Matthew 22:38-40, it says, "..and the second one is like unto it, we are to love others as we love ourselves." Simply put, as we get to "know" God and how much He loves us and is able to receive that love for us personally, we are to do the same with others and not believe the lies we believe! Those lies also separate us from God's love. I know I believed some of those lies and it did separate me.

God's love more and more, the hidden impurities surfaced. My sins were, and still are, being exposed so I can confess them. When I confessed them, God purged me and it brought me even closer to Him. That's the good news!

We get stuck at the loving ourselves part! It's because we know ourselves all too well, all the hidden junk, all the past mistakes, etc. that we don't even want to make friends in fear they'll find all this stuff out. The truth is, God, already knows it anyway.

When we make a mistake (sin), we get mad at ourselves. I know I did. I used to beat myself up literally. I was a rage alcoholic against self. We think we have to "pay" for them in some way, stay miserable for a few days, etc. But, if we truly believe in forgiveness, we would take it the minute we sinned, thereby staying free FROM sin, as Jesus promised. It's not that there won't be sin any longer, it's that when it comes, we don't take it!

The Sanctification Process:

- In order to come clean or identify unforgiveness, if you have not done this already, make a list of times when you got hurt, experienced trauma or rejection and see if there is a person, God or self attached to that event you need to forgive. Go back to your earliest memory and work forward. Did you know unforgiveness binds you to that person and also binds you to emotional pain? Every emotional pain in your life is a result of unforgiveness. When you are able to truly forgive a person, your heart will be healed -- no more pain around that memory. Forgiveness of sins and healing diseases work together!
- Are you a stuffer? Many people suppress their feelings and don't deal with their pain. A stuffer denies certain strong needs and represses a lot of feelings – shut down. Eventually what they stuffed comes out in sickness and disease or mental torment. Learn when someone hurts you to not stuff it or go in denial. Recognize you've been hurt and ask God to help you to forgive instead of stuffing. "Stuffing is bad to your health."
- Do you replay past events in your head or tell the same story over and over what someone else, church, job did to you and you cannot stop thinking or stop talking about it? Guess what! That is Unforgiveness! Pay attention to what you are thinking or talking about!
- Then 1 John 1:9 - confess these sins to God, and then RECEIVE forgiveness. Simply confessing is good, but it's complete when we RECEIVE forgiveness. If you have a hard time receiving, that's OK, it will come as you continue your love quest with God.
